The Ewen C. D. Todd Control of Foodborne Illness Award recognizes a professional individual for dedicated and exceptional contributions to the reduction of risks to foodborne illness. The award consists of a plaque and a $1,500 honorarium sponsored by Marler Clark Attorneys at Law.

Qualifications for nominees
- Be a non-student Member in good standing at the time of nomination and during the IAFP Annual Meeting who has had an outstanding career in foodborne disease investigation, prevention and control.
- Recipients can be employed in or retired from government, academia or industry.
- IAFP Executive Board Members and IAFP Awards Committee Members are not eligible.

Criteria for nominations
Please provide specific information on the following:
- Career highlights—length of service and positions held in their profession(s)
  Provide a resume or summary of positions held related to foodborne disease, epidemiology, laboratory, prevention and control strategies, including activities that highlight the nominee’s dedication to the profession and that demonstrate high personal standards.

- Contributions to leadership in research pertaining to foodborne disease prevention and control
  Provide specific examples of outbreak investigations, case-control and laboratory studies, and other epidemiological studies; willingness to collaborate with peers in a multidisciplinary way; research history on foodborne illness identification, prevention, control and understanding human behavior relating risks of foodborne disease; sharing research data with peers at scientific meetings. Recognition by colleagues could be demonstrative of achievements.
• Publications in peer-reviewed scientific journals, book chapters, and educational materials
  Provide a listing of publications, presentations, and other ways to share information with scientific and lay audiences.

• Participation in IAFP activities
  Provide membership history and listing of past and present involvement in IAFP committees and PDGs, Annual or Affiliate Meeting attendance and program participation (e.g., speaker, symposium organizer, etc.) and other IAFP activities.

• Peer assessment of nominee
  Provide no less than two and no more than three letters of support* from professional peers in addition to a nomination cover letter*.

Additional points to consider under the criteria for evaluating nominee
Other activities or characteristics of the nominee that are not specifically covered under the above criteria may be provided to emphasize the nominee’s dedication to food protection and demonstrate the nominee’s high personal standards (e.g., other associations, volunteer and community activities, etc.).

Submitting nominations
Nominations must be submitted as one PDF to awards@foodprotection.org by Tuesday, February 15, 2022. Please follow directions carefully to avoid errors. Nominations received by email directly to the IAFP office or by mail will not be accepted. If you have any questions about this award or the required documents, please contact Susan Smith at ssmith@foodprotection.org.

Once you have submitted your complete nomination, you will receive an acknowledgment of receipt from Susan within 48 hours. (If you do not, please contact Susan.)

Nomination letter and letters of support cannot be from a current IAFP Board Member
