

FOOD ALLERGEN ASIA CONFERENCE

JUNE 25 – 26, 2025 | SHANGRI-LA HOTEL | BANGKOK, THAILAND
www.foodallergensasia.com

Background

Food allergies are an increasing global health concern, impacting millions of individuals and posing a significant public health challenge. The upcoming Food Allergen Asia Conference presents a unique opportunity for government regulators and the food industry to engage with the latest studies and insights from the FAO/WHO, as well as policy recommendations that are shaping international standards and regulations.

Key topics will include the development of global priority allergen lists, allergen thresholds, and advanced risk assessment frameworks that support effective food allergen management worldwide. Participants will stay informed about critical issues such as precautionary labeling, regionally significant allergens, novel foods, and the importance of regulatory compliance in an ever-changing food landscape.
